AS ROBERT BRINGHURST quotes in The Elements of the Typographic Style, the culinary publications are a great opportunity to build architectural structures with the type and the page. The spaces, the separations, the tabulations, the columns.

The constraints of these cases are a deployment opportunity for type families and editorial design.

In this kind of pages, the technical joins the inspiration, the search of readability and transparency coexists with manifesting a personal style, so typical of the culinary world.
